THE COPENHAGEN WORLD CATALOGUE OF CITY COMMITMENTS TO COMBAT CLIMATE CHANGE

- A VIRTUAL COLLECTION OF LOCAL CLIMATE COMMITMENTS

The city of Copenhagen launched a new virtual tool in the combat against climate change, the City Climate Catalogue.

The tool is a catalogue of climate commitments given by the cities and towns of the world.

This Catalogue captures information on the collective number of climate change commitments of cities and local governments.

It includes GHG reduction goals, as well as policies and methods applied to reach these goals.

The Catalogue will send a strong message to the United Nations, national governments and other important actors around the globe, showing the ambitious climate work of cities and local governments around the world.

The Catalogue will emphasise the need for a UN text, where the Parties of the Conference agree to engage, empower and resource cities and local governments.

JOIN US!

It is essential that you add your commitments. Together we send a strong message to the UN and other key actors.

The City Climate Catalogue is accessible:

This Catalogue is a supportive element of the Local Government Climate Roadmap from COP15 in 2009 towards COP17 in 2011.
